Choose one of the qualities you want to develop and write an action step of how you can develop that quality in your life.

ACTION STEP:

SOURCES OF INPUT

You are what you are and where you are because of what's gone into your mind.
You can change what you are and where you are by changing what goes into your mind.

-Zig Ziglar

Divide the circle into a pie chart. Put one source of input into each slice and make the slice size relative to the impact that source of input has on you.

QUESTIONS TO CONSIDER:

1. What types of input are on your chart? Were you surprised by anything on your chart?
2. What do you notice about the amount of positive or negative input you have?
3. Do you have enough positive input? If not, how can you get more positive input in your life?
4. How can you turn the negative input into positive input?

Thoughts are the software of the mind. - Diane Dean

YOUR THOUGHTS HAVE POWER

What have you been telling yourself consciously or subconsciously?

List as many thoughts or beliefs as you have about yourself, success, relationships, money, etc.

AFFIRMATIONS

It's time to replace your negative "garbage dump thinking" thoughts with positive affirmations. Write down several affirmations to replace the negative self-talk you identified in our last module.

Remember, for affirmations to be strong, they must be present tense (I am, I can) and positive. For example: "I'm always late can be replaced with "I arrive 5 minutes early wherever I go." Or, "I'm not good enough" can be replaced with "I'm perfect just the way I am."

A LIFE-CHANGING PROCEDURE

Every morning start your day, and every evening at the close of the day, stand in front of the mirror in a room by yourself, look yourself in the eye (the eyes are the windows of the soul) and say “I, _____ am a child of the King (John 1:12) in the will of God (The Lord’s Prayer), and can do all things through Christ who gives me the strength (Philippians 4:13). I claim the following attributes because I have the mind of Christ (I Corinthians 2:11), am a confidant of God (Psalms 25:14), and although I am weak in many of these qualities I am specifically told (Joel 3:10) to ‘let the weak say I am strong.’ By claiming, developing and using these Biblical qualities, I will become the person God created me to be and will glorify God and benefit mankind.

“I, _____ am an honest, intelligent, organized, responsible, committed, teachable person who is sober, loyal, and clearly understands that regardless of who signs my paycheck I am self employed. I am an optimistic, punctual, enthusiastic, goal-setting, smart working self-starter who is a disciplined, focused, dependable, persistent, positive thinker with great self-control, and am an energetic and diligent team player and hard worker who appreciates the opportunity my company and the free enterprise system offer me. I am thrifty with my resources and apply common sense to my daily tasks. I take honest pride in my competence, appearance, and manners, and am motivated to be and do my best so that my healthy self-image will remain on solid ground. These are the qualities which enable me to manage myself and help give me employment security in a no job-security world.

“I, _____ am a compassionate, respectful encourager who is a considerate, generous, gentle, patient, caring, sensitive, personable, attentive, fun-loving person. I am a supportive, giving and forgiving, clean, kind, unselfish, affectionate, loving, family oriented human being and I am a sincere and open-minded good listener and a good-finder who is trustworthy. These are the qualities which enable me to build good relationships with my associates, neighbors, mate, and family.

“I, _____ am a person of integrity, with the faith and wisdom to know what I should do and the courage and convictions to follow through. I have the vision to manage myself and to lead others. I am authoritative, confident, and humbly grateful for the opportunity life offers me. I am fair, flexible, resourceful, creative, knowledgeable, decisive, and an extra-miler with a servant’s attitude who communicates well with others. I am a consistent, pragmatic teacher with character and a finely-tuned sense of humor. I am an honorable person and am balanced in my personal, family and business life, and have a passion for being, doing, and learning more today so I can be, do, and have more tomorrow.

“These are the qualities of the winner I was born to be and I am fully committed to developing these marvelous qualities with which I have been entrusted. Tonight I’m going to sleep wonderfully well. I will dream powerful, positive dreams. I will awaken energized and refreshed; tomorrow’s going to be magnificent and my future is unlimited. Recognizing, claiming, and developing these qualities which I already have gives me a legitimate chance to be happier, healthier, more prosperous, have more friends, greater peace of mind, better family relationships, and legitimate hope that the future will be even better”

Repeat the process the next morning and close by saying, “These are the qualities of the winner I was born to be and I will develop and use these qualities to achieve my worthy objectives. Today is a brand new day and it’s mine to use in a marvelously productive way.”

After 30 days, add the next step:

Choose your strongest quality and the one you feel needs the most work. Example: Strongest—honest. Needs most work—organized. On a separate 3x5 card, print “I, _____ am a completely honest person and every day I am getting better and better organized.’ Keep this 3x5 card handy and read it out loud at every opportunity for one week. Repeat this process with the second strongest quality and the second one which needs the most work. Do this until you’ve completed the entire list. Use this self-talk procedure as long as you want to get more of the things money will buy and all of the things money won’t buy.

Note: Because of some painful experiences in the past (betrayal, abuse, etc.), there might be a word or two that brings back unpleasant memories (example: discipline). Eliminate the word or substitute another word.
